

Tracy came to EmpowerTech looking for help in using a computer to write her family's stories, because her failing eyesight had limited her ability to write. After visiting EmpowerTech, Tracy learned to use screen enlargement software. She can now for the first time see her words on the computer screen because the text is enlarged and easier to read. Tracy uses the program's voice feedback feature when her eyes become too tired. Tracy is now able to write her family's history and keep their legacy alive.
